- (23) G R A H A M (JAMES) A SKETCH: OR SHORT DESCRIPTION of DR GRAHAM'S MEDICAL APPARATUS, etc; erected about the Beginning of the Year 1780, in his House, on the Royal Terrace, Adelphi, London; 12mo., half calf, Printed and Sold by Mr. Almon....1780 15-0
- Many very famous people, including Lady Emma Hamilton, visited this renowned quack.
- (24) H A R V E Y (WILLIAM) ANATOMICAL EXERCITATIONS, concerning the Generation of Living Creatures: to which are added Particular Discourses, of Births, and of Conceptions, etc., FIRST ENGLISH EDITION, 8vo., contemp. sheep (little worn). Printed by James Young, for Octavian Pulleyn, and are to be sold at his Shop at the Sign of the Rose in St. Pauls Church-yard, 1653 £10-10-0
- A good copy, but lacks the portrait (as usual). From the last lines of Martin Lluelyn's poem - "Great Generations selfe is now thy Heire", included in this volume, Fuller may have found his strange idea (Worthies' 1662, Kent, P. 79) that Harvey, though a bachelor, left three hopeful sons to posterity - his books - "De circulatione Sanguinis", which I may call his son and heir; the Doctor living to see it at full age, and generally received; "De Generatione", as yet in its minority: but I assure you growing up apace into Publis credit; "De Ovo" as yet in the nonage thereof; but infants may be men in due time". This seems to be Lluelyn's only medical poem; comparing Harvey with Drake and Cavendish, he calls him "Fam'd Circulator of the Lesser World."
- (25) H E A D R I C H (JOHN) ARCANA PHILOSOPHIA, or CHYMICAL SECRETS, containing the Noted and Useful Chymical Medicines of Dr. Wil and Rich. Russel, Chymists, viz. VI.A Pestilential Cordial, call'd his White Cordia. As also several Curious Chymical Processes and Spagerick Preparation of Natural things for the Use of Medicin.... by Dr. AURELIUS PHILIPUS THEOPHRASTUS PARACELSUS, sm. 8vo., contemp. half calf, 1697 £3-10-0

- (26) H E C Q U E T (PHILIPPE) OBSERVATIONS SUR LA SAIGNEE DU PIED, et sur la Purgation, au commencement de la Petite Verole, DES FIEVRES MALIGNES, et des grandes Maladies....; l'on ajoute la Lettre de M. HECQUET, [a M. Sylva] pour servir de Pesponse aux difficultes qui out etc., [separate pagination] 8vo., contemp. calf, A Paris, 1748 £1-5-0

Hecquet, after practising at Port Royal, became in 1697 a member of the Faculty of Paris, who employed him as Professor of Materia Medical; he advocated the use of the lancet, and is said to be the prototype of "Dr Sangrado" in "Gil Blas" and to have been called by his contemporaries "the French Hippocrates".

- (27) L O W E R (RICHARD) TRACTATUS DE CORDE, Item de Motu & Colore Sanguinis, et Chyli in eum Transitu; cui accessit dissertatio de origine Catarrhi, in qua ostenditur illum non provenire a cerebro; EDITIO TERTIA, et ULTIMA, with 5 folding plates (should be 6), 8vo., old calf (neatly rebaked). Amstelodami, apud Danielelem Elsevirium, 1671 £3-3-0

Lower became a friend and coadjutor of Dr. Willis, whom he assisted in his work on the "Anatomy of the Brain". In 1661 he confirmed the Harveian theory by experiments on transfusion of blood (which is the subject matter of chapter 4 of this book)

- (28) M A T H E W S ' P I L L.- KENDALL (G.) Rasario, medico, Nouariensi, interprete; 8vo., vellum (some worm-holes repaired in lower blank margins). Venetiis, apud Paulum Manutium, Aldi F. (absque anni nota). £2-2-0

This work was probably printed between 1554 and 1555. Oribasius, a celebrated physician, was a native of Sardis, in Lydia, or of Pergamus. The first to describe salivary glands, also he advanced new ideas on dietetics and gymnastics, and his "Medicinalia Collecta" is highly valued for its explanations of many passages in Galen's writings, and for the extracts it contains from obscure and non-authors.

- (32) P A C I N U S (IACOBUS) DE TENUIS HUMORIS FEBREM faciente

Henry Whitridge, 1763 15-0

The title states that "Mr Ward left his Book of Secrets" to the author.

- (34) P E I R C E (ROBERT) THE HISTORY AND MEMOIRS OF THE BATH: containing Observations on what Cures have been there wrought, both by Bathing and Drinking those Waters; an Account of King Bladud, said to be the First Founder of the Baths; etc. folding plan of the City of Bath, [SECOND EDITION], 8vo., contemp. calf gilt, Printed for Henry Hammond, 1713 £1-1-0

Peirce, is probably the first English writer who noted the occurrence of acute rheumatism as a sequel to scarlet fever; his account of Major Agnot's case, in which muscular feebleness of the arm followed the constant carrying of a heavy falcon on one fist, is the first suggestion of the morbid conditions described as "trade palsies". The Lympho-sarcoma of the Pericardium, which he discovered post mortem in the case of Sir Robert Craven, IS THE FIRST DESCRIBED IN ANY MEDICAL BOOK. Those three original observations entitle him to a high place among English physicians.

Printing-Press, in the Piazzo of the Royal Exchange....., 1676 £5-5-0

A translation from the work of Eyens, a Flemish Physician born in Antwerp in 1567, who worked laboriously in Italy under such famous tutors as Mercuriali, Costeo, Aranzi, Aldrovandi, and Tagliacozzi, and returning to the "low-countries" was made professor of medicine at Louvain in 1593. He was later appointed leading physician to the Archduke Albert.

Octobris [1666] submittit, EDITIO PRINCEPS, sm. 4to., rebound in old style sheep, Jenoe, Literis Samuelis Krebsii, 1666 £2-10-0

Small tear in title-page. This is the original appearance of the "Scrutinium Chemicum Vitrioli" as an academic dissertation for the degree in medicine, with Guernerus Rolfinck as Preses, at Jenae, 1666. It was re-issued with an altered title in 1667, vide Ferguson's Bib. Chemica. Vol 2. p. 476.
Zedler says that two learned works proceeded from Trumphius: the "Scrutinium", which was received with the greatest approval by all who understood nature, and in particular by the English who extolled it highly in their monthly periodicals, and "De Salivationibus Mercurialibus."

- (49) [T R Y O N (THOMAS)] THE GOOD HOUSEWIFE MADE A DOCTOR, or, Health's choice and sure friend: being a Plain Way of Nature's own prescribing, to Prevent and Cure Most Diseases incident to Men, Women and Children. by Diet and Kitchen-Physick only.... with some Remarks on the Practise of Physick and Chymistry, by Philotheos Physiologus; small 8vo., old sheep (rebacked; first leaf of contents defective, part of blank margin of page 195 torn off). Printed and Sold by Andrew Sowle, in Holloway-Lane near Shoreditch [1648] £3-3-0

By a freak of printing several pages are in duplicate, but by pasting them together the correct reading and continious pagination are obtained.

The writings of Tyron, who strongly recommends a Vegetable diet, together with abstinence from tobacco, alcohol, and indeed all luxuries, are a curious medley of mystical philosophy and dietetics, his object being, as he himself informs us, "to recommend to the world temperance, cleanness and innocency of living.... to give his readers Wisdom's bill of fare... and at the same time to write down several mysteries concerning God and his Government".

Tschirnausen, an eminent German mathematician and philosopher, travelled in various countries of Europe, and after his return established in Saxony several manufacturies of glass. He made burning lenses, and mirrors of enormous size; one of these was 3 feet in diameter, with a focal distance of 12 feet.

- (51) W H I T L O C K (RICHARD) ZOOTOMIA : or, Observations on the Present Manners of the English: Briefly Anatomizing the Living by the Dead, with a Usefull Detection of the Mountebanks of both sexes; with a pseudo-anatomical frontispiece [engraved by W. Hollar], 8vo., calf (arms of John Savile, first Baron of Rufford, on sides). Printed by Tho. Roycroft, 1654 £3-10-0

With the leaf "Explication of the frontispiece": the preliminary pages, as usual, have irregular signatures. The medical interest of this quaint work lies in sections dealing with "The Peoples Physician" "The Faithful Chyrurgian", "Medicinall Observations and Characters", etc.
